1.

Direction:

Wax strips start before the hair starts (remember to exaggerate the area) Apply the wax in the appropriate direction (see the wax strips cheat sheet).

2.

Remove:

Twirl/scrap/apply all of wax off the stick onto the skin

3.

Spread:

Always keep wax in FRONT of the wax stick while spreading the wax on the area that you're working on. Be careful NOT to "drag" the wax while applying to the skin.

4.

Pressure

Pressure! Pressure! Pressure! Be mindful of areas with lymph nodes, they are more sensitive to pressure. Larger areas tolerate more pressure, you have a better chance of breaking the stick than you do hurting your client

5.

End with a good lip:

Lay past where the hair ends with a good lip will guide which way to pull. As you advance and lay more strips, it's easy to get confused which way you laid and need to pull.
